

LOOK 675

Before the start of Stage 1 of the 2012 Tour de France, Look rolled out one of the most beautiful and radical-looking mid-level bikes we've ever seen. Flattened rear stays provide an extra measure of compliance, while the unique A-stem is fully adjustable for a range of positioning options. Available in five sizes and in red/black or flat-black finishes with a range of component specs.

Price: $4000-$8000
